REALISATION OF THE MONITORING AND THE IMPACT ANALYSIS OF THE STATE POLICY (IN THE FRAMEWORK OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION REFORM IMPLEMENTATION)

Problem setting. With the implementation of large-scale public administration reform and parliamentary reform, both legislative and executive branches of government face new challenges related to improving the efficiency of their activities, improving the quality of decisions, improving the legislative process and more. At the same time, foreign experience and best practices of other countries show that tools for monitoring and analyzing the impact of public policy can be an effective tool for solving these and other problems, as well as improving the activities of all public authorities in general.

Recent researches and publications analysis. In recent years, the monitoring and analysis of the impact of public policy on management has begun to receive considerable attention from both scholars and practitioners. V. Bakumenko, M. Bilynksa, O. Bosak, made a significant contribution to the study of these and other issues. M. Gazizov, R. Herzog, V. Goshovska, B. Gurne, D. Zapisny, M. Kanavets, Yu. Kalnysh, O. Kilievych, V. Knyazev, O. Kopylenko, V. Kostytsky, Yu. Likhach, A. Malyuga, J. Marku, V. Mironenko, N. Nyzhnyk, E. Rakhimkulov, O. Rudenko, V. Tolkovanov, V. Tertychka and others.

Main objective of the article. The purpose of the article is to study the tools monitoring and analysis of the impact of public policy, as well as the peculiarities of their implementation in public authorities in the implementation of public administration reform.

Conclusions. Policy analysis is the activity of creating knowledge about the policy-making process and in the process. Creating knowledge about the policy-making process, a policy analyst (civil servant) studies the causes, consequences, and effectiveness of public policy alternatives and government programs.